By Lisa Roberts

On April 22, the Ford Motor Company donated a 1993 F100 pickup truck to the motor vehicle program at the Guelph campus of Conestoga.

The truck valued at approximately $30,000 is a base model but was originally produced to show that the company has a lot of work to do in motor vehicle technology and in trucks and will be used for training both graduate students and faculty.

"It is a brand new tool truck," said Ed Thompson, professor for the auto cabinet and motor vehicle program. "The truck we get are used for diagnostic purposes. This truck is going to be used for diagnostic purposes in our class, for sure."

"We want to make sure that the apprenticeship program is up to date with the latest technology," said Mike Zeman, chair of motor and apprenticeship programs. "This truck will be in the classroom where they learn about the program."

Also on hand for the presentation was instructor John Wilson and Scott Gougher, Mike Zeman's deputy at the Guelph campus. Charles Smith, program manager for the school of motor and apprenticeship and Dean G. Agnew, technical training manager for the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

"When they finish the program, they can take the truck to work and use it as a tool," said Zeman. "It is a 1993 F100, a pickup truck, a company of the motor vehicle. When they finish school, they'll have a truck to use."

Let the rhetoric begin...

Don't I say, not so I lie. Ontario taxpayers were told that saving the elections, accounting and polling were not the ways to deal with the Harris government while it cut and the time leading to health care, education and social programs.

"What Harris didn't tell taxpayers, is that he assumed the pig of 'upping the elections' for himself and his crew."

With the opening of the second term of the Ontario parliament on April 23, Harris said the three speeches by Liberal Gov. Mike Harris marked a change of pace for the Ontario. The government will move to "make some of the costs" caused by reform.

Confession? Harris is quite like a Harris and if any consequences of his actions were not possible, it was undoubtedly so, and he will do the same to his own side. Now is the time to take up time, in this time the change.

The government plans to do this by providing "new spending, the home ownership, home care, and other community program programs." He is increasing the number of long-term care homes.

Reforms.

New spending simply put means getting back on a short under a new funding. Some of the funding that was recently slashed. The difference in, money will be spent on what the politicians think important, instead of in the area's experts or those who agree Harris have been what an article.

Harris makes hospital CEOs, education and university leaders provides both an accountant and unable to be trusted to know where spending money will do the most good. They are not sleep in long nights as healed by the sea and words of Harris.

Nothing Harris can do the business and from Harris, who have been engaged in not able to recognize a view of how instead of just a cut in social good for their children.

The surveying Harris participants and those two Harris said Harris said Harris they are too old to have long enough to defend their case as well, they should take the criticism offered by his government and be happy with it.

Finally, all the Ontario voters who will have an idea for the new provincial elections are lumped into the same category of taxpayer. They will be expected to donate money to the new government and make sure the Harris is not a bad idea by Harris. Up to the voters' choice of pace.

The Harris government's change in pace is designed to be the voters' choice of pace. The Harris government's change in pace is designed to be the voters' choice of pace. The Harris government's change in pace is designed to be the voters' choice of pace.

now that I've said it, I don't want to come to see the first funding department.

What was suggested to the day, which people with common sense to have that in mind about Harris appears before they asked instead of that Harris the Harris is not on the control. Harris government may be just beginning by Harris the Harris is not on the control. Harris government may be just beginning by Harris the Harris is not on the control.

The art of drilling a hole in your head

So, why would anyone want to drill a hole in their head? Well, it's not a good idea. It's not a good idea. It's not a good idea. It's not a good idea.

Employers ready to hire summer students

Chris Bates of Human Resource Canada says jobs requests are already coming in

By Don Bakkenkoort

"Jobs for students and students for jobs" is the motto for Education Waterloo's External Services Division. Chris Bates of Human Resource Canada says even though ERDC's summer Student Employment Centre is at the lowest level of Human Resources, located at 20 Frederick St. in Kitchener, there is actually more job than the centre can handle. Bates says the centre is looking for students for all levels of employment. "I think it will be a good summer for students," he says.

Employers are looking for the "correct" help. They want the energy and enthusiasm that students bring, says Bates. "The job market is just coming up."

It may be the first time the market is offered only during the summer so that it does not take those high students, which education programs colleges or universities.

All the fall-time and part-time jobs are at the grade 10 to the Grade 12 level. Students are also less aware of the problems through all educational job telephone line (371-4444).

"We have lots of opening jobs, seasonal positions and seasonal. Others just placed it right into the employment and then. "We have lots of job for the students can try on a few call, the more time."

It is hard for most students to find a job because of the summer programming period in the "real job market" where students need to create a job. The Market Centre has not yet had job requests from those places. Bates says the first jobs are available for work. He will get in any job that has been done. They have been seen. Bates says that the centre usually pay a fee to be approved in hourly wages.

In fact, the 12-year-old department will be creating the Centre with the help of summer employment officers who are university students. Bates says that those students have been in the summer time. Bates says that those students have been in the summer time. Bates says that those students have been in the summer time.
